

Statement of RoHS Compliance

24th August 2017

To whom it may concern:

This document certifies that all product supplied by IQD Frequency Products Ltd. are compliant with Directive 2011/65/EU of the European Parliament and of the Council of 8th June 2011 on the restriction of the use of certain hazardous substances in electrical and electronic equipment (RoHS directives) when the specific IQD part number has a LF prefix. The products are deemed as compliant in accordance with the definitions given in the directives.

This document also acknowledges that on 4th June 2015 European Commission Delegated Directive (EU) 2015/863 of 31st March 2015 amending Annex II to Directive 2011/65/EU of the European Parliament and of the Council as regards the list of restricted substances was published. As stated in Article 1 of this delegated directive, Annex II to Directive 2011/65/EU is replaced by the text in the Annex of this directive. This amendment adds four phthalates to the list of restricted substances. The Member States have been instructed to implement the new regulation into force by 22nd June 2019.

IQD Frequency Products has noted the relevant effective dates and for this reason we are already working on testing our affected product portfolio accordingly to ensure compliance with the new directive 2015/863 by the stated enforcement date.
